Secretary of state, Curry, submitted the not heavy. Coal oil firm. following communication:

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 11, 1874. To the Indiana State Board of Agriculture. GENTLEMEN: Will you allow me to call your themrion to the importance of establishing a the great industry you represent has therein, and to the influence you can exert in its favor by proper action. I need only remind you that the adjustive philosophy which deduces to princi-les from a collection of Lets, is the only onwhich gives us theories of practical value. The purpose of statistical tables is to give the largest possible basis of facts, as the foundation for correct theories. Your society is formed for the purpose of advancing the interests of the farming community, you are expected to keep them in formed of the best methods of procedure, the most profitable branches of their business, the most valuable inventions to assist their labors. But how can you do this without such a collection of faces as will enable you to compare and analyze, and so present results with accuracy. Year by year your are paying large amounts in premiums for the best and largest productions of grain, etc. But have you such tables as the result of your operations as will enable you to say with cer tainty whether your premium is awarded from the accident of superior soil, or the intention of a superior cultivation. Year by year you award premiums for last horses, but do your tables inform you as to the COST AND VALUE OF SUCH STOCK, so that the ordinary farmer can tell whether it is, or is not, profitable to raise fast horses, and so of each special crop or production, and with farms, so with every other branch of industry in the state. With stone, and iron and coal, and market. timber, in great abundance we know not..ing of the capital invested, the results produced, the wages paid, the profits realized. We have long and heated disputes about changes of law, criminations and strikes between capital and labor, criticisms and abuse about divorces and intemperance, but we have no collection of facts which would enable as to form a correct conclusion in such a bureau failed to become a law for want of a final vote. It must therefore remain a nomstate historical society has strongly endorsed the movement, and appointed a committee to urge the passage of necessary laws. The papers of th state generally have spoken of it with favor. And it the project meets with your appobation, I would respectfully suggest the appointment of a committee to assist in perfecting and present ing a proper sill for legislative action. It is be lieved that by a judicious distribution of the labor to be performed, very valuable results can be obtained at small cost. Thus, if the agricu-tural statistics are collected through your society, the educational through the superintendent of public instruction, the criminal through the attorney general, those of taxation and finance through the auditor, and the vital and mechanical through this office, but little new machinery would be required. Your attention to this important subject is respectfully solicited.

Very respectfully, W. W. CURRY, Secretary of state. On motion of Col. Dowling a committee was appointed to act upon the suggestions

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS. On motion of Mr. Martindale, each member of the state board was directed to furnish two discreet men to act as committeemen, they to report for action on Wednesday morning of the state fair; to serve three days, and to receive $3 per day for their services.
